Hi Liam,

At your suggestion nearly two years ago we are now holding an International Mini Rugby Series event at Kirkby Lonsdale RFC this year. We delighted that we have just enough teams to make this event work. With the KLRFC teams and people we expect just about 1000 people to attend before we start local advertising. This will be a tri-nations competition-England / Scotland and Wales taking part. We plan to charge spectators an entry fee to see if it works.

My reason for contacting yourself is as children like watching their parents making fools of themselves we wondered if you could run a touch rugby festival during the lunch break and at the end of play on Saturday 17 April to help keep people at the club until later in the evening. It could be extended beyond parents to a few other teams in the local area. Would you and a couple of Cumbria Referees be able to run that event? We would put the idea to the teams that are currently taking part so that they come prepared and maybe it should be mixed to include everybody-what do you think?

Regards,

Jamie McKimm
